REED AND REPEAL

Henry Clews calls attention to the setback experienced in the money market consequent upon the unexpected obsluracy of the squate in dealing with the allver question. He is sanguine, too, that the game of "bluff and bluster" so sieggeslly played by the minority will wear itself out and that ultimately the silver repealers will triumph by a large and decisive majority. It is an open secret that the repealers have a majority of 15 in a total vote of So senators. If this be true some It's recalcitrant obstructors are imperiling the business interests of the country in the face of certain defeat when a vote is ordered. If true it reveals a startling imperfection in the rules which govern that august body. A small majority is able to balk any vital legislation because the majority cannot force a vote, There is no rule in the senate which after due notice may be enforced to close debute if a single senator demand to be heard on the merits of the bill under discussion. With this remarkable perversion of the rules of common sense the senate is neither a legislative nor a deliberate body. It is simply a debating school which moves to an issue by common consent. It doesn't make laws for the masses; it cannot meet a crisis because it cannot be brought to decisive action so long as a single objector rises in his place to object. There ought to be a Moses or a Czar for the senate. With Tom Reed in the chair, it would not be impossible to force a vote. His vision as a parliamentarian is remarkably good. He could see a way out of the windy tie-up, and he would pilot the senate into safe anchorage without destroying its prestige or i running afoul the breakwate, of courtesy. Oh, for a half-day of Tom Reed's bold and determined leadership. ENITED VS. ASSOCIATED.

Since the United Press withdrew its service from the old and decrepit Western Associated Press, the latter has been slowly disintegrating and losing what little prestige it had at one time. A few weeks ago the Chicago Tribune declined to submit longer to its inefficient handling of the news and entered into a contract with the sturd; United Press Last Friday Washington Hesing resigned his position as a director in the organisation and he has since withdrawn his newspaper, the Illinois Stants Zeitung from the Associated Press and put it heart. into the United Press. This is the leading German journal of the west. Simultaneously with this change the Minneapolis Times and the Memphis Scinultar severed their relations with the Associated Press to become full members of the United Press. If this sort of thing continues the Western Associated Press service will be confined to the country dailies and even those will be few and far between.

TARIFF ON BRUSHES.

There is a pronounced protest being made against the repeal of the tariff on little too freely, or else he is affected by bristles which enter into the manufacture of brushes, and singularly enough the protest is supported by the manufacturers of brushes. There is a bill now before congress reducing the tariff se brushes from 40 to 15 per cent ad attempt to dictate legislation for the revalueum and making bristies free. The-New York Press points out that this is a quite so fafuguing. backbanded blow at the brush manufacturers of the cast and middle west, and at the same time a stablat the hograining inclustry of the west. That the rule of the brush making industry is one of the future certainties is cited by The Press in the history of theirhanges made in 1881. At that time the duty on brushes was changed from 35 to 30 per cent. Immediately foreign goods came Washington on October 11, and he icto the market and for a time destroped altogether the manufacture of solist and kindred brushes. Importations more than doubled in volume in the succeeding ten years. The McKinley bill restored the duty to 20 cents and since them importations have fallen off and the home industry has been prosecuted with greater mergy and encions than ever before. The pending bill if enseted into hav would again paralyse the brush inshortry. Hundreds of workmen and workwomen would be thrown out of you pluyment just as they were fee years ago. The freeing of brictics would not aid the brush industry to any perceptitile awtent, while it would wipe out the small resource derived by western how raisers from the sale of bristles. In view of those facts it looks like impertments for any congressions requirementing a dia | wild-cut rinners, a suffering people will trict in which the break making in I be grateful.

RINTS TO WRITERS.

Correspondents are again reminded hat their names must accompany their contributions. This is the forty-eleven thousandth notice. If the subject mat-ter consists principally of abuse of other newspapers with several paragraphs suggesting that the editor to whom the leation is addressed is a blooming idiot and ought to be hunking pumpking instead of blue leading copy t will be sure to fall into the wastebasiset as gouldy as the first enow finkes cover the stubble and fringe the leafless hade trees. By all means abuse somebody. Otherwise the communication may be printed. Write on both sides of the paper and fill the margins with "inwaste any of the white space on the paper. If there is not room for all you. ant to say on the flat surfaces of either side, write on the edges. Utilize the back of the envelopes for posteripts.
Write with a hard lead pencil and place the lines so close together and near to the top of the page there is no room for punctuation marks or headlines. If you are answering a communication from somebody else be sure to call him everything but a gentleman. Don't call him a prevaricator, a deep-dyed plugarist or a dense-headed nincom-poop. Those are too mild. The editor will go to sleep reading them. Call him an unmitigated liar, a despicable sneak-thief and a roaring, howling, screeching blockhoud. Then spill a bottle of ink on the copy and send it to the editor marked "personal." You will gladden bis heart. If it doesn't appear with a nine-story head in the first column of the first page you may know that it is either too mild or you have forgotten to sign your name.

THAO B. PESSTON, whom Postmaster General Bissell last Saturday appointed postmaster of Ionia, is one of the shrewdest democrat politicians in Western Michigan and a high degree member of Don M's Referee tribunal. He will take the position held by a veteran who had the moral courage to assert his individual opinion of a democrat candidate for governor of Michigan. Because he did that his head has gone into the basket. No other reason is assigned for General Kidd's removal. No other reason would have very great weight with the powers that be. Had Mr. Preston received the honor at the end of General Kidd's term the appointment would be commendable; but under the circumstances the whole proceeding is too much like killing a man for the pleasure of occupying a dead man's shoes to warrant a word in its favor.

In spite of their phlegmatic temperament the German people are a race filled with sentiment. If not they would not take the interest they do in the alleged reconciliation between Bismarck and the Emperor. It can have no political significance. One is a great statesman in his dotage. The other is conceited, bullet-headed young man, who wouldn't listen to a word of advice from highest heaven. Whether Bismarck and William be friends or notthe destiny of the German empire can in no way be affected, but to see all hostility between the maker of the great empire and its headstrong Emperor buried would delight the heart of every man with Teutonic blood in his veins.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

When Harry Wood discovers himself as a real dramatic critic, the charar of Lills Morris' burlesque of Zola's "Nanna' is achieved. He tells the fair "Nanna," bewitchingly gowned in rich blue satin, that he is the Moutor of the Paris dramatic press, and forthwith wins her heart and becomes the father of her child. He is a debonair Frenchman, is Harry, and Ethel Grey's "Nanna" would be spiritless without his exuberant flood of hisping patics. There is very little coherency to the burlesque; but it tells the story very quickly, and that is certainly a redoming trait. There are several very pretty lines in it, and Miss Morris makes a conscientious effort to inject spice into each of the four scenes. In the olio, Miss McCullough appears in songs, Blandon and Regini in the trunk mystery—a conventional contortion act; Morris and Gorman in their last week's success, "Two New Sports in Town, 'by request'. Gorman in their last week's success. "Two New Sports in Town," (by request). Then the petite Earl sisters. These three girls are refreshingly original in the art of high kicking. Theirs is one of the few chaste, refined and graceful dancing offerings seen on the variety stage. They deserved the thunderous applause which called them back three times. The Gilday's appear in a neat sketch, in which they are acknowledged artists. The Rowe brothers in their dances on barrels and in wooden shoes were well inceived. The bill concludes with a boxing tourney between Jack and Rose Burke, in a sketch entitled "The Two Irish Sports. It is a clever turn."

There was a very large audience in the Grand last evening to welcome the Noss family—newcomers to this city. The audience was in good humor and received the remarkable musical specialties with demonstrations of delight. The vehicle used to introduce the protean musical accomplishments of the family is a very indifferently constructed comedy and could be dispensed with without impairing the enjoyableness of the program. Still something of the sort is really demanded for such an entertainment and this one is probably as good as another. The musical contributions are novel and unique. From a cabbage slicing knife to an ox-horn the gamut of music emitting instruments is extended, slicing knife to an ox horn the gamut of music-emitting instruments is extended, and the execution by the several members of the family is certainly surprisingly accurate and tuneful. The singing is not surpassingly good but in the concerted numbers the youthful voices blend sweetly. The Fox chase, Musical Donkey and Roester dance are very clover, while the Eutterfly dance is executed with consummate grace. The audience was so well pleased with the performance that it would be cruel to point out manifest defects. In fact the age of some of the jokes forbids criticism. The entertainment is worth seeing. By that is meant ment is worth seeing. By that is meant that the price of admission is judiciously invested in a front seat ticket for it is. he very best show seen in The Grand

The new Irish play, entitled "Nora Machree," was presented last night at Miner's People's theatre, says the New York Press. It scored a bit at once, and the play can be safely said to be an emphatic success. The plot is strong and interesting, and an able company portray the different characters in a thoroughly artistic manner. A pretty feature was the entrance of Nora drivfeature was the entrance of Nora driv-ing a span of the smallest ponies ever seen in New York. It will be seen in The Powers' Saturday evening.

"On the 27th of February, 1873, I was taken with a violent pain in the region of the kidneys. I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up. As soon as possible I applied two Allcock's Porous plasters, one over each kidney, and laid down. In an hour, to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I were the plasters for a day or two as a precaution and then re-moved them. I have been using All-cock's Porous Plasters in my family for the last ten years and have always found them the quickest and best remedy for colds, strains and rheumatic affections. From my experience I believe they are the best plasters in the world,"

Ecantiful teeth are a luxury tew possess.

We have heard people say they would give everything they had for such beautiful tosts as so and so had.

The true secret is not so much in the perfectness of the teeth as in the snow like whiteoess and the brilliant polish.

All teeth are capable of this with proper cars. We shes and pastes should be avoided as they are injurious as are also many of the powders. A properly prepared powder, however, is the outy right and perfect thing to cleanes and preserve the teeth. This we have successfed in producing after much labor jand expense. The fermion is by one of the most noted dentists of of this country and is absolutely perfect.

SAPUNDATA—Is the name we have adepted for it, and we are the creimists owners and manufacturers. We giverantee Sepodents to be the only perfect tooth powder on the market. That it will prevent decay and render the teeth more beautiful with less trouble than any other preparation to be had.
